THE MERCYHURST DIFFERENCE
Explore your interests and gain valuable skills through the liberal arts associate degree at Mercyhurst University at the Booker T. Washington Center. This degree designed to be flexible and broad, so you get the fundamental skills you need to prepare you to enter a four-year degree program.
As a credit-based Mercyhurst University program, the classes you take here can transfer toward a bachelor’s degree just about anywhere. Many Mercyhurst students choose to attend the Mercyhurst Erie campus to earn a bachelor’s – or even a master’s degree. An advanced degree will open up more opportunities as you move forward, and we can help you decide if it’s the right move for you. Students who transfer to the Erie campus can earn up to $12,000 in internal transfer scholarships!

GET THE EXPERIENCE.
A liberal arts degree is a great starting point for you to get the common core classes you need before choosing a specialization later on. Learn how to think critically in writing, computer, math, philosophy and history classes that help you adjusted to the college experience.

GET THE JOB.
By taking a variety of courses, you’ll learn to think critically, communicate effectively, and problem solve efficiently, all while discovering your true calling. So whatever field you decide to enter, you will have already built a solid foundation. As a Mercyhurst student, you’ll have access to career and academic counseling to help you determine what direction you want to go.
