

“Women’s Experience or Idle Tales: Gender and Story in the Church Today”

NATALIA IMPERATORI-LEE, PH.D.
Fordham University

TUESDAY, SEPT. 15, 7 P.M.
WALKER RECITAL HALL | MERCYHURST UNIVERSITY
Free and open to the public. Tickets and registration not required.

Dr. Natalia Imperatori-Lee is Associate Professor of Systematics in the Department of Theology at Fordham University. A celebrated scholar in the areas of ecclesiology, feminist theologies, and Latinx theologies, Dr. Imperatori-Lee has published two books, Women and the Church and Cuéntame: Narrative in the Ecclesial Present, as well as numerous articles. She holds graduate degrees from the University of Notre Dame (Ph.D.) and the University of Chicago (M.A.) in addition to her B.A. from Fordham.