   d. the institution’s compliance with the Commission’s policies; and

Standard: II 8.a

Evidence: Programmatic Accreditation Document, Graduation Data Document, Assessment Handbook, Individual academic program webpage (ex. PA, AT),

• Do we have it? The documents contain information adequate demonstration of institution-wide assessment, graduation and retention rates, and certification and licensure or licensing board pass rates.

• Do we use it? Graduation and retention data are shared internally and publicly, institutional-wide assessment is available on the assessment and planning webpage as is the certification/licensure list.

• Does it work? These documents adequately provide evidence that offers accurate and comprehensive information regarding information on institution-wide assessments, graduation, retention, certification and licensure. The workgroup recommends having a central place to list accredited program board pass rates. Whether for institutional and/or public use, it is challenging to find information on campus-wide assessment. Individual programs publicize licensing board pass rates on their webpages, (e.g., Physician Assistant, Athletic Training) but there is no central location. 9. periodic assessment of ethics and integrity as evidenced in institutional policies, processes, practices, and the manner in which these are implemented.

Standard: II-9

Evidence Name: Faculty Handbook, Student Handbook, Undergraduate & Graduate Catalogs,
Do we have it? Various policies and processes exist to provide guidance for institutional ethics and integrity. Assessments of ethics and integrity in institutional policies, processes, practices and implementation are based on various sources and:

- Employee Handbook, Section 1 General Policies, see especially Section 1.3 Code of Ethics and Conduct, page 7
- Student Conduct Code in the Student Handbook (page 8) and the 2019-2020 Graduate Catalogue.
- Academic Honesty Policy in the 2019-2010 Undergraduate Catalogue
- Various sections of the Faculty Handbook provide policies and procedures for the implementation of ethics and integrity, including
  - Section II Faculty Governance,
  - Section V General Faculty Policies,
  - Section VI Tenure Policies and Procedures,
  - Section VII General University Policies (Sexual Harassment, Non-Retaliation, Faculty Grievance, Non-Discrimination, etc.), the academic evaluation processes and administrator evaluation processes exist to promote and maintain academic and administrative ethics and integrity.
- Assessment Handbook
- Mission Self Study
- Board Committee Charters

- Do we use it? A wide range of sources indicate substantial integration of the university’s mission and core values across the entire range of its operations, areas, and stakeholders. Opportunities for growth and development might exist for comprehensive periodic assessment in this area.

- Does it work? The sources above provide adequate evidence of institutional policies, processes, and practices that promote and maintain ethics and integrity. Opportunities exist for the expansion of centralized and comprehensive assessment of ethics and integrity across the various areas and levels of the university. The extent to which various types of evidence of ethics and integrity is for institutional assessment of ethics and integrity is indeterminate at this time.
